

I am so thrilled that the LEAD program is being made available to our local student bodies. This one of a kind presentation relates to students on their level while educating them on a wide variety of hot topics cyberbullying, e-cigarettes, and social media. It's so important that our students are exposed to sometimes difficult discussions as well as exposure to the consequences of their actions. I will continue to look to LEAD as a resource for discussing difficult issues with my own children.
